

I want to clearly express my feeling that the FCC should not interfere with the Wisconsin No Call List program. This program has gained strong support in Wisconsin and reflects our desire to have more stringent limitations on telemarketing than provided by the Federal program. It is voluntary - those citizens who are interested in receiving telemarketing calls can opt not to be included on the No Call list. Inclusion on the list must be regularly renewed. I have added my name to the Wisconsin No Call list because I don't want to receive telephone solicitations. If I do receive a call, I immediately ask the caller to respect my wishes and hang up. I NEVER purchase a product, make a donation or otherwise respond to a telemarketing solicitation. I urge the FCC to respect my wishes for privacy and to not advance any regulations that might interfere with the Wisconsin program
